Announcing a New Community Music Program for Downtown San Antonio!

The UTSA Downtown String Project

After-School String Instrument Classes for Elementary-Age Students
Beginning on January 25th, 2010

Sponsored by the UTSA Department of Music and the Charlotte Louise Dashiell and Lota M. Spell Endowment, the UTSA Downtown String Project will offer beginning string instrument classes for elementary students in grades three through five at the UTSA Downtown Campus. Part of the National String Project Consortium, and recipient of several national grants, the UTSA String Project is a nationally recognized teacher training program that provides community children the opportunity to learn a string instrument (violin, viola, cello, bass, classical guitar) from university faculty and students. UTSA is now expanding this program to include the Downtown Campus area. Our first classes in Spring 2010 will be open to students in grades three through five.
